Department: Communication Science and Disorders

Program Name: Communication Science and Disorders

Program Level: Graduate

College: College of Education and Professional Studies

Program: M.S.

Submitted by: Sharyl Samargia

Title: Professor, Department Chair and Graduate Program Director

Contact: sharyl.samargia@uwrf.edu

Submission Date: October 28, 2016

Program Outcomes

Outcome 1: Students will demonstrate knowledge of basic communication processes assessment.

Outcome 2: Students will demonstrate knowledge of phonological disorders.

Outcome 3: Students will demonstrate knowledge of language disorders.

Outcome 4: Students will demonstrate knowledge of aphasia.

Outcome 5: Students will demonstrate knowledge of cognitive aspects of communication.

Outcome 6: Students will demonstrate knowledge of social aspects of communication.

Outcome 7: Students will demonstrate knowledge of augmentative/alternative communication.

Outcome 8: Students will demonstrate knowledge of articulation disorders.

Outcome 9: Students will demonstrate knowledge of voice and resonance disorders.

Outcome 10: Students will demonstrate knowledge of fluency disorders.

Outcome 11: Students will demonstrate knowledge of dysphagia.

Outcome 12: Students will demonstrate knowledge of areas related to hearing.

Outcome 13: Students will demonstrate knowledge and skills in clinical management.
Outcome 14: Students will demonstrate knowledge of professional issues.

Outcome 15: Students will demonstrate knowledge of psychometrics (testing/measurement).

Outcome 16: Students will demonstrate knowledge of research methods.

Outcome 17: Students will demonstrate professional skills in providing prevention services.

Outcome 18: Students will demonstrate professional skills in providing assessment/diagnostic services.

Outcome 19: Students will demonstrate professional skills in providing intervention services.

Outcome 20: Students will demonstrate professional skills in oral and written communication.

Outcome 21: Students will demonstrate professional skills for interacting with clients and other professionals.

Outcome 22: Students will demonstrate professional skills for with clients who are culturally and linguistically diverse.