Department: Communication Science and Disorders

Program Name: Communication Science and Disorders

Program Level: Undergraduate

College: College of Education and Professional Studies

Program: Minor

Submitted by: Sharyl Samargia

Title: Professor, Department Chair and Graduate Program Director

Contact: sharyl.samargia@uwrf.edu

Submission Date: October 28, 2016

Program Outcomes

Outcome 1: Describe the scope of the fields of speech-language pathology and audiology.

Outcome 2: Describe the processes of speech development, language development and hearing.

Outcome 3: Describe the basic characteristics of disorders of: hearing, articulation/phonology, language, voice and/or resonance, fluency, swallowing, cognition, social aspects of language.

Outcome 4: Integrate knowledge of normal human communication processes and disorders when observing clinical sessions.