The Program

The graduate program in Communication Sciences & Disorders at UWRF is nationally accredited by the Council on Academic Accreditation in Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology (CAA).

Clinical Staff

Certified speech-language pathologists and an audiologist supervise graduate students in providing clinical services to all clients.
Clinic Services
Established in 1963, the University of Wisconsin-River Falls (UWRF) Speech-Language & Hearing Clinics provide comprehensive evaluation and therapy services for all ages. Approximately 80 individuals attend the clinic each week. In-person visits or teletherapy are offered.

Speech and Language
We provide testing and treatment directed toward improving skills for individuals of all ages experiencing problems with:
- sound and word pronunciation
- dialectal differences or accented speech
- stuttering and fluency
- voice and resonance
- speech, language, and cognition due to stroke, trauma, or other neurologic events
- speech, language, or social skills due to autism spectrum
- developmental language or learning affecting social interaction, reading, and writing
- swallowing
- communication needs related to assistive technology
- speech disorders related to Parkinson’s disease (LSVT LOUD®, SPEAK OUT!, and The LOUD Crowd®)

Hearing
We provide testing and treatment for hearing difficulties in individuals of all ages. Services include:
- hearing evaluations for all ages
- hearing aid consultations, fittings, and repairs
- custom earplugs (for loud noise, swimming, etc.)
- OSHA hearing conservation programs
- aural rehabilitation services
