GENERAL RULES
- All climbers must read the rules and regulations before signing the risk waiver form.
- The proper use of verbal contracts and safety precautions must be used at all times.
- At "last call", judges will accept scorecards for the last time. "Last call" means that you can add your score card to one more judge's pile of scorecards. There is no guarantee that you will get to climb that route. When your last attempt ends, your scorecard is to be turned in.

RED POINT FORMAT
- The climber must show control with both hands on the starting hold(s) before progress is initiated.
- The climber must show control with both hands on the top edge of a route to receive points for that route.
- The climber must establish contact with the route judge so that the judge may verify control of finish hold.
- Only designated holds and features are permitted for climbing each problem- all arêtes, ledges, and features are off-route unless specified otherwise. Smearing is allowed on all routes.
- Climber is allowed multiple attempts on a route. Maximum points will only be awarded if the route is completed on the first attempt.
- An attempt is initiated when the last body part leaves the ground.
- The attempt is terminated when one of the following occurs: climber falls, physical assistance is given, climber is off-route, technical incident, or climber has completed the route.
- Beta may be given to competitors between attempts but is not allowed during an attempt.
In the interest of remaining fair, judges will not be giving beta.

TECHNICAL INCIDENTS
- Technical incidents must be declared by the climber at the time of its occurrence. A technical occurrence could be a bleeding finger, spinning hold, or anything else that creates an unfair disadvantage to a competitor that is not a result of the competitor's actions.
- A technical must be declared while the competitor is on the route. If the judge agrees that the incident has created an unfair disadvantage then the competitor will be allowed another attempt on that route, with no penalty incurred. The climber has the option of reattempting the route immediately or later in the session. This decision is at the climber's discretion. Note: “immediately” means “immediately”. If this option is selected by the climber, no extra time will be given to the climber for rest or route inspection.
- The climber must specify the nature of the technical incident, and with the agreement of the judge, may continue or cease climbing. If the competitor falls or chooses to cease climbing due to the technical, the attempt will not be counted as a fall.
- If the competitor chooses to continue on the route despite a possible technical, the climber forfeits the option of an un-penalized attempt.

GROUNDS FOR DISQUALIFICATION
- Distracting or interfering with any competitor who is preparing for, or attempting a problem.
- Distracting or interfering with any official carrying out duties.
- Failure to comply with the instructions of the judges or organizers.
- We expect all competitors to treat the other climbers, judges, and volunteers with respect and conduct themselves accordingly. Failure to do so may result in disqualification from the event.
- Falcon Outdoor Adventures staff reserve the right to disqualify any competitor for any reason deemed appropriate at the discretion of the Outdoor Recreation Coordinator.

SCORING
- Points associated with each route are on a sliding scale: The harder the route - the higher the points.
- Only judges will record points achieved on attempts.
- It is the climber's responsibility to record the top three scores and to turn in his/her scorecard by 3:00 p.m.
- Any ties will be broken with the fourth highest score, fifth highest score, and so on, until there is no longer a tie.
