Revised December 2012
Narrative for Environmental Planning Minor Program Change

This change to the minor is both a change in the name and a change in the focus of the planning minor. The name changes from Community Planning Minor to Environmental Planning Minor.

To respond to new directions and developments within the planning discipline and to position ourselves more strategically to meet the career goals of our students, a revised planning minor is being proposed. This minor is directed more effectively toward addressing the environmental impacts of the built-environment. This direction is necessary to allow our students the ability to successfully meet the new challenges of mitigating environmental impacts of development. To this end, the proposed revisions focus the minor on environmental planning, while also providing more flexibility and options to specialize.

Specifically, this proposal replaces ESM 293 – Community Analysis with ESM 351 – Planning for Sustainable Communities. ESM 303 – Environmental Policies and Administration and AGEC445/ESM445 – Land Use and Sustainable Agriculture Law are moved to Directed Electives within the minor. And, ESM 220 – Environmental Sustainability: Theory/Issues and Management, ESM 360 – Hydrology and Water Quality, AGEC 450 – Introduction to Natural Resource Economics, SOIL 120 – Introduction to Soil Science, and GEOL 269 – Environmental Geology have been added to the Directed Electives.
