Travel to Europe, Asia and beyond!

History Study Tours, 3 credits

History Club

Internships
Earn credit and gain priceless on-the-job experience in a field of history that interests you!

- museums
- archives
- a state capitol, the White House and other government agencies

An optional program. A history adviser will guide you through the process.

Contact us
History and Philosophy Department
307 Kleinpell Fine Arts
410 S. 3rd St.
River Falls, WI 54022
www.uwrf.edu/HIST
715-425-3164
history@uwrf.edu
www.facebook.com/uwrfhist

Internships

See How the Other Side Lives: Travel to Europe, Asia and beyond!

History Study Tours, 3 credits

Travel to Europe, Asia and beyond!

Internships
Earn credit and gain priceless on-the-job experience in a field of history that interests you!

- museums
- archives
- a state capitol, the White House and other government agencies

An optional program. A history adviser will guide you through the process.

Contact us
History and Philosophy Department
307 Kleinpell Fine Arts
410 S. 3rd St.
River Falls, WI 54022
www.uwrf.edu/HIST
715-425-3164
history@uwrf.edu
www.facebook.com/uwrfhist

History Club

Internships
Earn credit and gain priceless on-the-job experience in a field of history that interests you!

- museums
- archives
- a state capitol, the White House and other government agencies

An optional program. A history adviser will guide you through the process.

Contact us
History and Philosophy Department
307 Kleinpell Fine Arts
410 S. 3rd St.
River Falls, WI 54022
www.uwrf.edu/HIST
715-425-3164
history@uwrf.edu
www.facebook.com/uwrfhist
Field Social Studies

Why Study History?

Relevance. Given that history is everything that has happened in the world, it is relevant for every discipline and every person, nation and culture. History is a universal key! Studying past events helps you understand what is happening today and what may happen tomorrow.

Innovation. It’s more than dates and famous dead people! Those dates represent mystery, adventure and knowledge. Those famous dead people inspire people to action today; their words appear in speeches, on posters and in books.

Influence. History is all around you in the news, in politics, and in games, movies, theater and television shows. Historians study the rise and fall of empires, and also daily life—our homes, the landscapes around us, and even the weather. We can learn about the past through material objects, through studying our ancestors, and by examining today’s and yesterday’s pop culture.

Degrees

B.S. or B.A. in History. These degrees are our core, providing a balanced background including study in U.S., world and topical history. Time travel through the world by taking courses covering the Atlantic World, Western Europe, North America, the Mediterranean World and Asia. Topical courses include film history, gender, popular culture, ethnic history, military history, religious history and more. You will enjoy an area of focused study as well as your core preparation. You can also enhance your major with study tours to Asia or Europe (see back panel for more travel information).

B.S. or B.A. in History with Philosophy Emphasis. This major is for those who wish to understand past events through ideas and grapple with the modern world through an intellectual framework.

B.S. in Broad Field Social Studies. This major leads to certification to teach all seven social sciences. It equips you with a broad background and also a clear expertise in one specific field. Our program is designed to meet the Wisconsin license requirements though our graduates teach throughout the U.S.

Learn more about our degree plans at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Academics/History.cfm

Career Options

Majors in history prepares you for a broad range of careers in museums, archives, business or non-profit management, communications, financial services, public or foreign service and teaching (BFSS major).

The analytical, research and writing skills you develop through your history major also prepare you for diverse careers in business analysis and writing.

A history degree is also a solid foundation for continuing your education in law, management, religion or an academic specialty.

Learn more about history careers at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/NewStudents/index.cfm

Check on the careers of some of our alumni at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Alumni/AlumniCareers.cfm

www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Academics/History.cfm

Learn more about our degree plans at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Academics/History.cfm

Learn more about history careers at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/NewStudents/index.cfm

Check on the careers of some of our alumni at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Alumni/AlumniCareers.cfm
History and Broad Field Social Studies

Why Study History?

Relevance. Given that history is everything that has happened in the world, it is relevant for every discipline and every person, nation and culture. History is a universal key! Studying past events helps you understand what is happening today and what may happen tomorrow.

Inspiration. It’s more than dates and famous dead people! Those dates represent mystery, adventure and knowledge. Those famous dead people inspire people to action today; their words appear in speeches, on posters and in books.

Influence. History is all around you in the news, in politics, and in games, movies, theater and television shows. Historians study the rise and fall of empires, and also daily life—our homes, the landscapes around us, and even the weather. We can learn about the past through material objects, through studying our ancestors, and by examining today’s and yesterday’s pop culture.

Degrees

B.S. or B.A. in History. These degrees are our core, providing a balanced background including study in U.S., world and topical history. Time travel through the world by taking courses covering the Atlantic World, Western Europe, North America, the Mediterranean World and Asia. Topical courses include film history, gender, popular culture, ethnic history, military history, religious history and more. You will enjoy an area of focused study as well as your core preparation. You can also enhance your major with study tours to Asia or Europe (see back panel for more travel information).

B.S. or B.A. in History with Philosophy Emphasis. This major is for those who wish to understand past events through ideas and grapple with the modern world through an intellectual framework.

B.S. in Broad Field Social Studies. This major leads to certification to teach all seven social sciences. It equips you with a broad background and also a clear expertise in one specific field. Our program is designed to meet the Wisconsin license requirements though our graduates teach throughout the U.S.

Learn more about our degree plans at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Academics/History.cfm

Career Options

Majors in history prepares you for a broad range of careers in museums, archives, business or non-profit management, communications, financial services, public or foreign service and teaching (BFSS major).

The analytical, research and writing skills you develop through your history major also prepare you for diverse careers in business analysis and writing.

A history degree is also a solid foundation for continuing your education in law, management, religion or an academic specialty.

Learn more about history careers at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/NewStudents/Index.cfm

Check on the careers of some of our alumni at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Alumni/AlumniCareers.cfm

History and Broad Field Social Studies

Degrees

B.S. or B.A. in History. These degrees are our core, providing a balanced background including study in U.S., world and topical history. Time travel through the world by taking courses covering the Atlantic World, Western Europe, North America, the Mediterranean World and Asia. Topical courses include film history, gender, popular culture, ethnic history, military history, religious history and more. You will enjoy an area of focused study as well as your core preparation. You can also enhance your major with study tours to Asia or Europe (see back panel for more travel information).

B.S. or B.A. in History with Philosophy Emphasis. This major is for those who wish to understand past events through ideas and grapple with the modern world through an intellectual framework.

B.S. in Broad Field Social Studies. This major leads to certification to teach all seven social sciences. It equips you with a broad background and also a clear expertise in one specific field. Our program is designed to meet the Wisconsin license requirements though our graduates teach throughout the U.S.

Learn more about our degree plans at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Academics/History.cfm

Career Options

Majors in history prepares you for a broad range of careers in museums, archives, business or non-profit management, communications, financial services, public or foreign service and teaching (BFSS major).

The analytical, research and writing skills you develop through your history major also prepare you for diverse careers in business analysis and writing.

A history degree is also a solid foundation for continuing your education in law, management, religion or an academic specialty.

Learn more about history careers at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/NewStudents/Index.cfm

Check on the careers of some of our alumni at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Alumni/AlumniCareers.cfm
History and Broad Field Social Studies

Why Study History?

Relevance. Given that history is everything that has happened in the world, it is relevant for every discipline and every person, nation and culture. History is a universal key! Studying past events helps you understand what is happening today and what may happen tomorrow.

Inspiration. It’s more than dates and famous dead people! Those dates represent mystery, adventure and knowledge. Those famous dead people inspire people to action today; their words appear in speeches, on posters and in books.

Influence. History is all around you in the news, in politics, and in games, movies, theater and television shows. Historians study the rise and fall of empires, and also daily life—our homes, the landscapes around us, and even the weather. We can learn about the past through material objects, through studying our ancestors, and by examining today’s and yesterday’s pop culture.

Degrees

B.S. or B.A. in History. These degrees are our core, providing a balanced background including study in U.S., world and topical history. Time travel through the world by taking courses covering the Atlantic World, Western Europe, North America, the Mediterranean World and Asia. Topical courses include film history, gender, popular culture, ethnic history, military history, religious history and more. You will enjoy an area of focused study as well as your core preparation. You can also enhance your major with study tours to Asia or Europe (see back panel for more travel information).

B.S. or B.A. in History with Philosophy Emphasis. This major is for those who wish to understand past events through ideas and grapple with the modern world through an intellectual framework.

B.S. in Broad Field Social Studies. This major leads to certification to teach all seven social sciences. It equips you with a broad background and also a clear expertise in one specific field. Our program is designed to meet the Wisconsin license requirements though our graduates teach throughout the U.S.

Learn more about our degree plans at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Academics/History.cfm

Career Options

Majors in history prepares you for a broad range of careers in museums, archives, business or non-profit management, communications, financial services, public or foreign service and teaching (BFSS major).

The analytical, research and writing skills you develop through your history major also prepare you for diverse careers in business analysis and writing.

A history degree is also a solid foundation for continuing your education in law, management, religion or an academic specialty.

Learn more about history careers at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/NewStudents/Index.cfm

Check on the careers of some of our alumni at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Alumni/AlumniCareers.cfm

History and Broad Field Social Studies

Why Study History?

Relevance. Given that history is everything that has happened in the world, it is relevant for every discipline and every person, nation and culture. History is a universal key! Studying past events helps you understand what is happening today and what may happen tomorrow.

Inspiration. It’s more than dates and famous dead people! Those dates represent mystery, adventure and knowledge. Those famous dead people inspire people to action today; their words appear in speeches, on posters and in books.

Influence. History is all around you in the news, in politics, and in games, movies, theater and television shows. Historians study the rise and fall of empires, and also daily life—our homes, the landscapes around us, and even the weather. We can learn about the past through material objects, through studying our ancestors, and by examining today’s and yesterday’s pop culture.

Degrees

B.S. or B.A. in History. These degrees are our core, providing a balanced background including study in U.S., world and topical history. Time travel through the world by taking courses covering the Atlantic World, Western Europe, North America, the Mediterranean World and Asia. Topical courses include film history, gender, popular culture, ethnic history, military history, religious history and more. You will enjoy an area of focused study as well as your core preparation. You can also enhance your major with study tours to Asia or Europe (see back panel for more travel information).

B.S. or B.A. in History with Philosophy Emphasis. This major is for those who wish to understand past events through ideas and grapple with the modern world through an intellectual framework.

B.S. in Broad Field Social Studies. This major leads to certification to teach all seven social sciences. It equips you with a broad background and also a clear expertise in one specific field. Our program is designed to meet the Wisconsin license requirements though our graduates teach throughout the U.S.

Learn more about our degree plans at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Academics/History.cfm

Career Options

Majors in history prepares you for a broad range of careers in museums, archives, business or non-profit management, communications, financial services, public or foreign service and teaching (BFSS major).

The analytical, research and writing skills you develop through your history major also prepare you for diverse careers in business analysis and writing.

A history degree is also a solid foundation for continuing your education in law, management, religion or an academic specialty.

Learn more about history careers at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/NewStudents/Index.cfm

Check on the careers of some of our alumni at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Alumni/AlumniCareers.cfm

www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Academics/History.cfm

Learn more about our degree plans at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Academics/History.cfm

www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Alumni/AlumniCareers.cfm

Check on the careers of some of our alumni at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Alumni/AlumniCareers.cfm

www.uwrf.edu/HIST/NewStudents/Index.cfm

Learn more about history careers at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/NewStudents/Index.cfm

Check on the careers of some of our alumni at www.uwrf.edu/HIST/Alumni/AlumniCareers.cfm
Travel to Europe, Asia and beyond!

History Study Tours, 3 credits

History Club

Internships
Earn credit and gain priceless on-the-job experience in a field of history that interests you!

- museums
- archives
- a state capitol, the White House and other government agencies

An optional program. A history adviser will guide you through the process.

Contact us
History and Philosophy Department
307 Kleinpell Fine Arts
410 S. 3rd St.
River Falls, WI 54022
www.uwrf.edu/HIST
715-425-3164
history@uwrf.edu
www.facebook.com/uwrfhist

History Club members unwind after a busy semester.

“History repeats itself. So you might wanna pay attention.”
- Quavo

Internships
Earn credit and gain priceless on-the-job experience in a field of history that interests you!

- museums
- archives
- a state capitol, the White House and other government agencies

An optional program. A history adviser will guide you through the process.

Contact us
History and Philosophy Department
307 Kleinpell Fine Arts
410 S. 3rd St.
River Falls, WI 54022
www.uwrf.edu/HIST
715-425-3164
history@uwrf.edu
www.facebook.com/uwrfhist

More UWRF travel programs include:
- International Traveling Classroom
- Wisconsin in Scotland
- Study Abroad
- Semester Abroad

Find your ideal program(s) at:
uwrf.studioabroad.com/index.cfm?FuseAction=Abroad.Home
Travel to Europe, Asia and beyond!

History Study Tours, 3 credits

History Club

Internships
Earn credit and gain priceless on-the-job experience in a field of history that interests you!
- museums
- archives
- a state capitol, the White House and other government agencies

An optional program. A history adviser will guide you through the process.

Contact us
History and Philosophy Department
307 Kleinpell Fine Arts
410 S. 3rd St.
River Falls, WI 54022
www.uwrf.edu/HIST
715-425-3164
history@uwrf.edu
www.facebook.com/uwrfhist

Internships
Earn credit and gain priceless on-the-job experience in a field of history that interests you!
- museums
- archives
- a state capitol, the White House and other government agencies

An optional program. A history adviser will guide you through the process.

Contact us
History and Philosophy Department
307 Kleinpell Fine Arts
410 S. 3rd St.
River Falls, WI 54022
www.uwrf.edu/HIST
715-425-3164
history@uwrf.edu
www.facebook.com/uwrfhist

Travel to Europe, Asia and beyond!

History Study Tours, 3 credits

History Club

Internships
Earn credit and gain priceless on-the-job experience in a field of history that interests you!
- museums
- archives
- a state capitol, the White House and other government agencies

An optional program. A history adviser will guide you through the process.

Contact us
History and Philosophy Department
307 Kleinpell Fine Arts
410 S. 3rd St.
River Falls, WI 54022
www.uwrf.edu/HIST
715-425-3164
history@uwrf.edu
www.facebook.com/uwrfhist

Travel to Europe, Asia and beyond!

History Study Tours, 3 credits

History Club

Internships
Earn credit and gain priceless on-the-job experience in a field of history that interests you!
- museums
- archives
- a state capitol, the White House and other government agencies

An optional program. A history adviser will guide you through the process.

Contact us
History and Philosophy Department
307 Kleinpell Fine Arts
410 S. 3rd St.
River Falls, WI 54022
www.uwrf.edu/HIST
715-425-3164
history@uwrf.edu
www.facebook.com/uwrfhist